Bros. Alexander—
Dear Sir:

The bearer
of this is the boy of whom I spoke to you He goes to enter as a
pupil or Freshman.
He has been a good
boy, and on the encouragement you gave of receiving him without charge for tuition, I have hinted to him as much, He belongs to a family without means. His father is dead, his mother is sick.
I have great hope that he will do well, and that you will be pleased with him,

Luther must wait till next trip. Charles Soule goes contrary to our advice on the Luka this trip up. I think he designs to take lodgings down in town. Mr. Church's letter to him has evidently had a great influence

yours truly
