

Dear Sister M. I received a little note from you yesterday and hope soon to see the long letter you promised. But I was sorry to hear you had been so troubled with your ears. It must be very uncomfortable, even if it leads to nothing worse. I think you had not received my long letter. I had a note written since. Perhaps they were in the post with C's and G's. if they wrote as they think they did. I have coughed and through the gale of a month, see I have had, but it is warmer now, and my cough has subsided very much. I am busy, busy, busy, but I must say a word in relation to C's shoes, and leave you to give him such directions as you see best. I did not perhaps make it so plain as I ought before. You recollect he had a pair when he first came up. Mr. B. took a pr. of Mr. Hall when I took care of as you requested. in the mean time he took another from the depu, without saying any thing about it. Thanksgiving day I handed him the pr. I had which I told him he might regard as a Thanksgiving present from his Mother. During the vacation he took the pr. Mr. Wilcox wrote about, and about three weeks since came on board, and asked to go to H. On asking his business, said he wished to get a pr. of shoes. Mr. S. objected to his going there, but he was going down himself in the afternoon, and proposed that he should go with him and get them. He said he did not wish to go at all if he could not have more time. Mr. D. told him if he did not go then he need not ask to go the next Saturday.

Charles has given up his lecture. We have placed before him all the motives we could induce him to go on with energy. and finally Mr. D. told him he should get his lecture better or give it up. I talked with him a little fully but he professed to give it up. Henry took it up and some factory time together is now in his going as he has been Oh that he could be converted. I sometimes do well. Really seems to be very much interested in his health. I do not know what a rogue he is. I do think he has done very well in mounting and writing. I am very sorry. I like the day. I like G. said some thing about his obtaining being good. I do not exhibit it and he said he would tear it up. I do not think it was very creditable.
